

Study guidelines

Contributed by Administrator
Sunday, 01 March 2009
Last Updated Monday, 02 March 2009

If you're standing before choosing the road of life, if you do not know what to apply for studies - first look for information. Read about trades, look at our What to study? - May find guidance there. Go on so-called. open doors, talk with your students, see the info. Think not only of fashion lines - are fashionable today, may cease to be them soon. Think of your talents, think that is your weak and strong party.

In choosing a profession for maintaining their own critical assessment of the possibilities if you are a representative of the so-called. humanistic part of their class - do not search for opportunities in areas that will be required to forging rule formulas, solving mathematical tasks - physical - chemical properties. If you have talents language, think of the universities at which the capacity used - if not the same Philology, maybe the direction in which the foreign In the primary language of instruction is? Knowledge of languages is still capital in itself, convinced of it very quickly, at the start of professional paths.

Do not choose lightly. Consider all the pros and the profession in which you see your future. You must see all aspects of a future profession, do not idealize it. Was a decision a hundred times - by opting for a specific program of study, is bound to enter in a channel: the direction, the possibility of union, a group of friends, etc. If you have to do it under duress, under the influence of momentary fascination with fashion or - better take a cold shower. If you want to sit for a few lines of the university - Meet the specific date of entrance examination. If not, you may find that your plans to come out just because for example you want to sit on English philology, and you choose the college exam the same day ...