Perhaps many of you readers, thinking about future employment, has considered various eventualities. If you're wondering dream degree programs, primarily directed to what really interested us. Very often, however, a moment later, her head warning lamp lights up and remind yourself: "After these studies we do not have work." Generally it is a completely wrong idea. But few meet the necessary conditions so that our dream studio gave us in the future dream job.

Parents and their unfulfilled ambitions are able to cause great harm. First of all, your child, because it's disappointing to see it suffer in the eyes of parents.

Prepare and gives a big money. Most of them have already had to change studios, some even several times. Of course, you can go on the economics, medicine and law with the vision of huge income, and only after studying the vision for five years clench your teeth with anger. When selecting a course of study, we should be guided primarily by what we do. Keep in mind that educated philosopher and sociologist, with the vision of his own career may be far more attractive to employers than the Economist, which lacks this vision.

Boring to study not only five years, but also work to which we will not be too well prepared. It is good to think about the decisions we make, because the abandonment of the study we may even lose the entire year.
